CoolerAi's Commitment to Sustainability

At CoolerAi, we believe that sustainability should be at the forefront of our operations. We have implemented several environmentally-focused goals that lead to the production of eco-friendlier goods and a reduction in our carbon footprint. We operate with an understanding of our social and environmental responsibilities, taking action in accordance with our sustainability philosophy.

Eco-Friendly Practices

We prioritize using products that consume less energy and have a longer lifespan. In addition, we have switched to environmentally friendly materials and reduced packaging and waste in our operations.

Reducing Energy Consumption

We have developed features that help our users reduce their CO2 emissions while using our products. Our refrigerators with CoolerAi consume 43% less energy than standard glass doors, contributing to a more sustainable future.

Carbon Footprint Reduction

At CoolerAi, we aim to become carbon neutral in the future. We have already taken steps towards this goal, such as equipping most of our displays with an innovative carbon savings meter.

Our commitment to sustainability is an ongoing process that we take seriously.

We will continue to innovate and implement eco-friendly practices to reduce our impact on the environment and provide sustainable solutions to our customers.

Maxmize your Brand's Potential with CoolerAi's Ad Platform

CoolerAi provides brands with a variety of ad options to effectively promote their products. With customized campaigns, you have the flexibility to design and tailor ad campaigns to match your brand objectives. Choose from a range of ad formats, durations, and scheduling options to create impactful and customized campaigns that resonate with your target audience.

Full Door Ad

The full door ad is a visually striking and high-definition promotional display that extends across the entire glass panel of a cooler or freezer door. This captivating ad format allows brands to effectively showcase their products and engage consumers within the retail environment, leaving a lasting impression.

Multi Door/Wall Ad

The multi-door/wall ads create a unique and impactful in-store advertising opportunity by spanning across multiple doors. This continuous ad format captivates consumers with its seamless visual experience, effectively showcasing products and leaving a lasting impression within the retail environment.

Banner & Spot Ads

Banner and spot ads are strategically positioned at top and eye-level, making them highly effective for building brand visibility. With their prominent placement, these ads create optimal opportunities to increase brand recognition and capture the attention of consumers within the retail environment.
